TR Fastenings continues to support Formula Student team in Sweden

August 2019

TR Fastenings (TR), the global specialist in the design, engineering, manufacture and distribution of high quality industrial fasteners, has renewed its support of a Formula Student motorsport team from Sweden for the third consecutive year. The team will be driving and competing in electric cars they have designed and built themselves at the Italian Riccardo Paletti circuit from the 24th-28th July and the iconic Hockenheim ring track in Germany from 5th – 11th August.

The team consists of mechanical design and engineering students from Stockholm's highly regarded KTH Royal Institute of Technology. Each year, the college submits a team to compete in Formula Student, Europe's most established educational motorsport contest. As well as actually driving the car in competitions across Europe, the students have to research, design, engineer and build the electric vehicles themselves.

The Formula Student challenge

Formula Student (FS), run by the Institution of Mechanical Engineers, is a global competition which aims to develop enterprising and innovative young engineers and encourage more young people to take up a career in engineering. The challenge tests students' abilities to research, manufacture, test and deliver a complex and integrated product in the deadline-driven environment of motorsport and comply with a rigorous 130 page rule book. Participation in the competition is viewed by the motorsport industry as a standard-mark for real-world engineering experience, helping students transition from university to a workplace environment.

In July, the team will head to the Riccardo Paletti circuit in Italy for the FS Electric contest, and in August, they head to the famous Hockenheim ring in Germany for the driverless electric car competition.

TR Fastenings support

TR Fastening's Sweden office agreed to support the KTH entry with a free supply of components and technical consultancy in 2017 and has continued to support the KTH teams every year since. One Formula Student alumnus from KTH, Patrik Ringdahl, now works at TR Sweden following his introduction to the business via the project in 2017.

KTH students, along with their electric car, joined the TR team in March this year at their stand at Automotive Engineering, part of the Advanced Engineering Show in Gothenburg. The car and the students proved to be a very successful pull for visitors to the stand, where students and TR engineers answered questions about the car, the parts used and the Formula Student scheme.

Patrik Ringdahl, from TR Sweden, comments: "As a former KTH student and member of the Formula Student programme, I am fully aware of the huge benefits I gained from taking part in the scheme. The opportunity to use high quality fasteners from TR and also to benefit from the TR engineers' experience, knowledge and expertise was invaluable and inspired me to join the business myself. It's fantastic that TR continues to support KTH and champion young engineering talent."

July 2019

A record-breaking turnout of an estimated 2,500 - 3,000 people returned to the King George V playing field in Newick on Sunday 7th July for the annual Piers Morgan family day at Newick Cricket Club, where he is a member.

The former newspaper editor and TV presenter, his team of family, friends and celebrities, including; Chris Gayle, Michael Vaughan and Kevin Pieterston, played two matches against the Club that is proudly sponsored by TR Fastenings.

Miss World Vanessa Ponce accepted the invitation to do the coin toss between George Read (Newick skipper) and Piers Morgan, the toss being won by Newick who opted to field first.

Chris Gayle and Michael Vaughan opened the batting; however, Chris Gayle was caught out by George Read on the boundary scoring only 6 runs. Michael Vaughan was bowled out by Newick's opening bowler Scott Warren after scoring 11 runs. Kevin Pieterston didn't stay at the crease very long only scoring 2 runs before he was also bowled by Scott Warren. Piers Morgan was the top scorer for his side with a staggering 18 runs resulting in his side finishing their 20 overs with a total of 110 runs.

Newick managed to convince fellow villager and Sussex 20/20 star, Luke Wright to play for them. This turned out to be costly for Piers' team as Luke went on to score 47. Newick only lost 3 wickets and passed the score in the 14th over.

Legendary cricket commentator Henry Blowfeld was commentating over the PA system for the game which made the day better than anyone could have expected.

David Strachan, Chairman of Newick Cricket Club Comments: "Our 1st team were really fired up especially when faced with the elite of the modern game and in the end came out winners by a considerable margin. I have to say the person who had the biggest smile on his face was Scott Warren who bowled both Michael Vaughan and Kevin Peterson! Another notable moment was George Read's steeple catch on the long on boundary to dismiss Chris Gayle. We all had a great day and thank everyone who came along to watch."

TR Fastenings to host annual Uckfield Kit Car Mini Grand Prix

July 2019

TR Fastenings (TR) is hosting the 17th Uckfield Mini Grand Prix featuring over 250 local schoolchildren in its car park on Sunday 14th July 2019 from 11am-3.30pm. Organised jointly by the Uckfield Rotary Club and Uckfield College, it is a major highlight of the Uckfield Festival which is running from the 6th-14th July.

The competition, which was first held at TR in 2003, will pit 250 year 5 and 6 students from various local schools against each other in 22 teams. This is the only race in the UK to feature kit cars being driven side by side by children in a grand prix style competition. Just like in professional Formula 1 racing, the teams will consist of drivers, pit crews, mechanics and supporters.

The Cars

The 24 volt electric-powered Greenpower Goblin kit cars, which have a top speed of 15 mph, must be built from scratch by the pupils themselves and use over 100 parts. The event aims to engage students in engineering and teach them a range of important skills, from mechanical knowledge to team building, marketing and design.

Also similarly to Formula 1, style is 'almost' as important as performance and the students have the ability to showcase their artistic talent by painting the cars any way they please. The students choose a theme around which the car is decorated and there is an additional prize for the best themed team.

The Race

Four teams compete against each other per race, with sharp Le Man styled driver change overs. Races consist of 12 laps with six drivers who swap over after 2 laps each. This pit stop change is a highlight of the race and usually decides between the winning team and the runners-up. All teams race in 2 qualifying heats and a final to determine their ultimate rankings.

All cars will be fitted with on-board sensors for recording lap-times and are connected via a live feed to the event website to showcase race results.

With over 1000 spectators expected, it is a fun family occasion that showcases the pupils' engineering prowess and racing skills. There will also be a food area on site serving hot food, drinks and ice cream.

Geoff Budd, Director at TR Fastenings, comments: "The Uckfield Mini Grand Prix is a fantastic local event and one which we really enjoy hosting each year. The young people who take part are all potential engineers of the future and we love being able to play a part in helping them to hone their skills. Good luck to all teams!"

Kevin races to the finish for charity in London to Brighton bike ride

July 2019

On 16th June, TR's Kevin Gladman, Data Controller, based at the headquarters in Uckfield, completed the London to Brighton British Heart Foundation Bike Ride in an impressive 5 and a half hours, with the average time being anything ranging from 6 – 10 hours, raising a grand total of £208.

It was a bright and early start as Kevin headed to London at 6:30 am in plenty of time to set off at 8:30 am.

He comments:

"Most of the ride was overcast and threatening to rain and, within the first 5 miles I saw 3 people come off the road with chain issues and flat tires. After the first long uphill stretch the heavens opened – at that point, the ride started to become real. The rain didn't let up for over 3 hours. Lucky me.... yes, I had no rain jacket! This was going to be a hard day, switching from hot baking sun to pouring rain!"

I faced a lot of challenges throughout the ride, but due to the determined team spirit everyone felt motivated to carry on. The ride featured some tough challenges, such as the Ditchling Beacon climb which is 1.55 km long, with an average gradient of 8.7 %!

I felt a sense of reassurance when I'd reached the Beacon as I knew that it was downhill 7 miles back to Brighton. From there it was a satisfying race for the finish.

I am really proud of our achievements and am looking forward to setting myself personal targets for next year."

This year promises to be another fun day out with Piers inviting his usual collection of high-profile international cricketers (including Kevin Pietersen, Michael Vaughan and Chris Gayle) and other celebrities to take part in the event.

David Strachan, Chairman of Newick Cricket Club Comments: *"Our annual fixture against Piers Morgan's XI is always a crowd favourite and a fixture that, as a club, we are very fortunate to have. TR's Kevin Gladman taking on London to Brighton challenge again for BHF

June 2019

TR Fastenings (TR)'s Data Controller, Kevin Gladman, who is based at the headquarters in Uckfield, is taking on the London to Brighton Bike ride, for the British Heart Foundation on the 16th June, covering 54 miles from Clapham Common to Brighton beach.

Kevin comments:

"It's time for a new challenge, as it has been a while since I have thought about any significant race, let alone 54 miles! This is the second time I will be taking part in the London to Brighton ride, which I first completed, shortly after my father passed away in 2004. With the race being on Father's Day this year it give me chance to think about my father whilst raising the money for a great cause.

The last time I was training, I continued to train with a cold and didn't think much about it, next thing I know, I was in hospital suffering from the one thing I was raising money for. At the time there was no clear reasoning, over time they confirmed that I got hit with a rare form of pericarditis, a disease that affects your heart sack, which inflates, presses on the heart and slows your blood flow. 12 months of rest and lots of tests later I am back up and running. I had a long way to go to be even think about a bike ride , I could barely walk up the town without getting out of breath.

Things needed to change, I was back in the gym 2 years on and I could feel the strength coming back, in the back of my head all I wanted was to complete the 54 miles, so my aim was to do London to Brighton, 8 months of bike training later and here we are 1 week away.

This year I aim to complete the bike ride in 3.5 - 4.5 hours, however, as long as I complete the full course I will be happy with any time."

May 2019

TR Fastenings Supports Ethiopia Sports Project

March 2019

TR Fastenings Holland is supporting Respo International, an organisation that offers solutions to enable disabled children in developing countries to participate in sports and other activities.

Since 2005, in collaboration with Stichting Dir and Hogeschool Windesheim, Respo International has been conducting sports projects for people with disabilities in Ethiopia. These projects have led to the establishment of the DIRES House of Sport in Addis Ababa. DIRES House of Sport has grown into a private sports centre from where trainers organise weekly sports activities for a network of different schools for children with disabilities.

Patrick Italiaander, Buyer at TR's Holland location comments: "My cousin, Nino Italiaander, is studying to become a gym teacher and is going to Ethiopia with a group of fellow students to help train disabled young adults to become teachers for the children. This will not only mean that the children will be getting regular exercise but it will also be giving these young adults a career."

Disabled athlete will compete in 2019 shooting season and climb Mt Kilimanjaro in October

TR Fastenings is renewing its sponsorship of Mick Kirby, the Sussex-based clay pigeon shooting champion who has successfully competed in the sport across the globe since overcoming a stroke 12 years ago and subsequently having his left arm amputated in 2015.

Mick is a naturally left-handed shooter and, after the stroke paralysed his left arm, he retrained to shoot with his right arm in 2009, with help from disabled sports charity Sportability. Mick has taken part in both disabled and able-bodied shooting competitions across the UK and internationally with considerable success.

As well as competing, Mick is now established as a referee in the sport, for both able-bodied and disabled competitors. He refereed the British Open in 2018 and will be overseeing a number of events throughout the 2019 season.

In a break from the shooting, Mick undertook a different kind of challenge in September 2018, when he joined the Amputation Foundation charity for a trip to the Calvert Trust adventure centre in the Lake District. For over 40 years, the trust has run adventure and activity camps and holidays for disabled people and their families, offering visitors the chance to challenge their disabilities and take part in activities such as water sports, horse-riding, sailing and hand-biking.

Mick comments: "At the start of the trip, all of us were a little nervous and sceptical of how many of the activities we'd be able to do as amputees. By the end of a trip, wow, what a difference! Not only was I trying and excelling at things I never thought possible, I also met some friends for life. The whole experience was amazing and one I will never forget."

A new challenge for 2019

It is with these new acquaintances and some other less abled friends that Mick is planning his next challenge: to climb Mt. Kilimanjaro in aid of the Amputation Foundation. He has already started training for the trip, which will take place from the 3rd -13th October this year.

Aiming high

In terms of shooting, Mick is competing in both down the line (DTL) and all around events throughout 2019, including the English and European Open championships. Competing against able-bodied shooters, Mick's aim is to get a medal in a mainstream competition. TR's support goes towards Mick's training, equipment and travel expenses, in exchange for the company's logo on his shooting jacket.

Abi Burnett, Head of Marketing at TR Fastenings, comments: "We've been proudly supporting Mick for years now and it's amazing to have witnessed what he's achieved. Constantly pushing himself to do more, Mick always excels in every challenge he takes on, so we are looking forward to witnessing more of his incredible achievements this year."

Young triathlete gearing up for 2019 season with support of global manufacturing business

TR Fastenings (TR), the global specialist in the engineering, manufacture and distribution of industrial fasteners headquartered in Uckfield, is again sponsoring successful Sussex triathlete Jamie Bedwell, who is about to start another busy season as he continues on his quest to reach the Paris Olympics in 2024. Despite a serious car accident in 2016 and health problems in 2017 caused by scar tissue, Jamie has never given up his dream of competing for Great British Team.

Jamie gets up to train early in the morning before and after his University commitments whilst he prepares for the 2019 season which will be his second year competing as an U23 competitor in the British series. Still only 20, Jamie began triathlon training at the age of 16 and is now a member of elite club, Bodyworks. In February, Jamie will be joining other squad members at a regional academy training camp in the Algarve, Portugal, for ten days of intensive training in preparation for the season ahead.

TR is one of two sponsors Jamie relies on to help with costs towards his training, competition expenses, kit expenses and equipment. Jamie also works part-time with triathlon specialists 'The Tri Store' in Eastbourne, and is currently completing his final year at the University of Brighton (Eastbourne campus), where he is studying podiatry.

As well as competing at an elite level, Jamie is also determined to use his platform as an athlete to do good, spreading the word about important causes, positive change and taking the opportunity to help others. In September 2019, Jamie will be working with the United Nations on a special campaign aimed to raise awareness of the issue of plastics used in the bike and triathlon industry ending up in our oceans. Jamie hopes to raise awareness of the dangers of using single-use plastics and the need to find alternatives to reduce the industry's impact on the environment.

Jamie says: "As a triathlete, I train and compete in the sea all the time, so I see first-hand the damage that single-use plastics are doing to our beautiful waters. I am privileged to be in a position where I am becoming known in triathlon and local circles, which means I can help to draw attention to these important issues and hopefully help in the search for a solution."

The 2019 season begins in April with a swim-free 'Duathlon', before the British Triathlon series kicks off in June with a key event at Blenheim Palace. Jamie will be competing throughout the season across the UK, with standout races in Cardiff, Llanelli, London and Eastbourne. As well as competing for prize funds, Jamie will also be looking to cement his position as an under 23 athlete, on the pathway to Olympic selection for the 2024 games in Paris and the 2028 games in Los Angeles. The first step will be to qualify for the European Cup, which will mean being within the top 5 of his field. After this, the goal will be the World Cup, the World Series, and hopefully on to the Olympic squad.

TR Press Release

TR Fastenings continues Jamie Bedwell sponsorship as he sets sights on 2024

January 2019

Jamie adds: "It's a really tough environment out there and there are only three places available on the Olympic squad, so it's certainly a challenging journey ahead of me. However, I am very positive and determined to put my all into my training; for me, having faith and a right mind-set as well as the support of those around me is where my strength lies. I'm very grateful for the team at TR for continuing to sponsor me, they have stayed with me from the beginning and throughout my accident and recovery and I simply couldn't do this without them."

Abi Burnett, Head of Marketing at TR Fastenings, comments:

"We have been on this journey with Jamie for four years and it's been incredible to watch his progress. In spite of terrible setbacks and injury, he has always stayed positive and his determination to reach his ultimate goal is inspiring. We are passionate about supporting local businesses and individuals and we are so proud to have the TR logo on Jamie's tri suit for another year: we wish him all the very best for the season ahead."
